OFFICIAL COUNT GIVES TEMPLE 698 PLURALITY

Washington County Honors Its Home Man With a Big Vote

TABULATION COMPLETE

Little Change in Results as First Announced in District and County

Dr. Henry W. Temple of Washington was winner over Congressman Charles Matthews of New Castle in the Twenty-Fourth district Congressional fight by 698 votes, according to the official tabulation of votes in the three counties comprising the district. The Washington county board finished their official count Thursday when the final result was made known.

Dr. Temple had a plurality of 1,337 votes in his own county over Matthews and a plurality of 8,660 over Dr. Lacock, the Democratic nominee.. Matthews was third in this county, Lacock running second with 477 more votes than his Republican opponent.

Dr. Temple was first in Washington county, with 1,337 plurality, first in Beaver county with 152 plurality, and second in Lawrence county, Matthews winning there by a plurality of 791 votes.

In the district the Progressiives take first place, the Republicans second the Democrats third, the Socialists fourth, and the Prohibitionists dropping to fifth.

The total vote cast in the district for congress was 37,232 and the Republican party, which formerly gave over 10,000 plurality in this district only polled about one-fourth of the total vote. Another feature of the returns is the small vote polled by the Prohibitionists, especially in Washington county. Peeples' the Prohibition candidate, received 321 votes in this county, 390 in Beaver and 652 in his own county. Washington with twice the population of Lawrence had only one-half as many Prohibition votes.

Dr. Temple drew very strongly undoubtedly from the Prohibition vote in this county. The following table gives the vote for each of the five candidates for congress, officially in each of the three counties of the 34th district:

	Was.	Law.	Bea.	Total.
Matthews (R)	3027	3303	4467—	10797
Temple (W)	2236	3455	5804—	11495
Lacock (D)	1316	2235	4944—	8495
Frethy (S)	1505	1594	1983—	5082
Peeples (P)	652	390	321—	1363

Temple's plurality over Matthews in district—698.

Choral Work to be Dropped

No Place Suitable in Entire Town Where Concert Could be Given

Because of a lack of a place in which to hold a recital it is likely that the Choral Society plans will be dropped for the season. None of the churches would be suitable, it is declared and one of them would be the only available place. Last year School Hall might have been used, but the auditorium has been cut into two rooms which are now being used for school purposes.

With the construction of the new school building on the corner of Crest avenue and Sixth street there will be an auditorium for recitals and performances of all natures.

REFUSES TO EAT

Sanity Commission Investigates Mentality of Donora Woman

DAUGHTER DROWNED

A commisison of Washington men this morning made an examination into the sanity of Mrs. Catherine Sampo, the Donora woman, who was lodged in jail Thursday changed with responsibility for the drowning of her 4-months-old daughter Ellen, Monday night.

The woman since being taken to the jail has absolutely refused to either eat or talk. She sits looking straight ahead of her and does not even reply when spoken to. Every effort to persuade her to take nourishment is a failure and a result of her abstinence from food she is in a greatly weakened condition. It is probable she will be committed to some institution for the insane.

RAILROAD ROUTE OVER OLD SURVEY

Mingo Creek to be Followed Short Distance by Cut-Off of Pittsburg & Lake Erie Line-- The Story Comes Straight

The Mingo railroad to be built up Mingo creek below Monongahela, of which mention was made a few days ago is to follow what is known as the old Hempfield route, which was surveyed years ago. The purpose of the line, as was previously stated will be to secure a needed cut-off doing away with delays in Pittsburg for trains east and west on the Pittsburg and Lake Erie.

The original line of the Hempfield between Wheeling and Greensburg was down Mingo creek and across the Monongahela at the mouth of Mingo creek. A large amount of work was done on thi sroute. The people of Washington county voted for a bond issue of $200,000, and Washington borough $50,000 to help in the construction.

The proposed Lake Erie cut-off is to follow the old Hempfield route up Mingo creek, cross the B. & O, near Gilkeson or Gamble, thence down little Chartiers to VanEman, thence by McPherson's run to Cecil to McDonald, and north to a connection with the Montour run branch of the Lake Erie. About 25 miles of the line will be in Washington county.

Already the rights of way have been secured, practically all of them by outright purchase, so that when the company is ready to go ahead with the work, there will be no delay or difficulties with property owners. The land for the terminals of the proposed river bridge are already purchased, which goes to show that the promoters mean business, and that active operations will not long be delayed.

JOHN SLOAN DIES OF HEART TROUBLE

Well Known California Man Passes Away Very Suddenly This Morning

BROTHER OF LOCAL MAN

John Sloan aged 46, a brother of Tom P. Sloan of North Charleroi, died at his home in the township adjoining California borough this morning at 9 o'clock from heart trouble. His death came very suddenly, Mr. Sloan not having been noticeably ill more than a few hours.

Born in Brownsville Mr. Sloan spent the greater part of his life as a miner. Some years ago he moved to California and accepted the position of road supervisor in the township where he lived. He held this position at the time of his death. His widow, who previous to her marriage was Martha Hiner, and two daughters, Mrs. L. S. Howard of Coal Centre and Mrs. Fred Combs of Califrnia survive. Another brother besides Tom P. Sloan and two or three sisters survive.

MRS. EHRENFIELD DIES AT NORMAL

After an illness of about three months, Mrs. Helen Margaret Hatch Ehrenfeld, aged 75 years, wife of Dr. Charles Ehrenfeld, a member of the faculty of the California Normal school and widely known over Pennsylvania and Ohio in educational and church circles, died at the Ehrenfield apartments at the normal at noon Thursday. Mrs. Shrenfeld was taken ill in August while at Mountain Lake Park, Maryland. She was brought home at that time but her condition did not improve. The direct cause of death was pneumonia.

Mrs. Ehrenfeld was the daughter of Warner and Annie Hatch and was born at Springfield, Ohio, October 13, 1837. She was united in marriage to the Rev. Mr. Ehrenfeld October 3, 1860. Residing at various places in Pennsylvania and Ohio where her husband was interested in school and church work, Mrs. Ehrenfeld was widely known and highly respected.

Besides the husband three sons, Charles H. Ehrenfeld of York, Pa.; Augusta C. Ehrenfeld of Springfield, O., and Frederick Ehrenfeld of Philadelphia survive. Two daughters died while Dr. Ehrenfeld was principal of the California Normal school 1871-76.

The body was taken on the 6:18 train leaving California this morning to Springfield, the former home. The cortege will be joined in Pittsburg by the two sons. Funeral services will be held at Springfield Saturday afternoon at the home of the son Augusta and the interment will be at that place.

NO PLACE FOR A REPUBLICAN

Eighty Four Has Big Democratic Population in Good Standing

NAME TO BE CHANGED

The most dangerous place in Washington county for a Republican is Eighty-Four. The safest place for a Democrat is the same village. With a population of 700 persons it is stated the village never had a Republican voter. Once a Republican who didn't know any better went there to start in business. Being a stand patter who wouldn't change his political religion for sake of residence he moved out. Eighty-Four took its present name when Grover Cleveland was elected President in 1884. Previous to that it was known as Fifty-Six, in honor of the election of President James Buchanan. Now, after 20 years, the residents propose to petition the postmaster general to change the name of the postoffice to Nineteen-Twelve in honor of Woodrow Wilson.

RECOMMEND TRY OUT OF WOMAN SUFFRAGE PLAN

Legislative Committee Considers New Legislation

TO CODIFY THE LAWS

Females of Pennsylvania May be Voting Within the Next Few Years

Woman suffrage, which both the Democratic and Republican parties at their last state conventions recommended should be voted upon by the people, was further endorsed in Philadelphia yesterday, when the legislative committee appointed to codify and revise the election laws of this state voted to include it among the recommendations to be made to the next legislature. David H. Lane, the veteran Republican organization leader of Philadelphia and former Attorney General W. U. Hensel of Lancaster, were the only members of the committee to oppose the recommendation. They declared that a woman's place was in the home and any introduction of woman suffrage into Pennsylvania would only complicate matters.

Those endorsing the recommendation took the stand that such legislation is progressive and this commonwealth should immediately follow the lead of those western states which had given votes to women. Those voting in favor of the recommendation were Frank P. Prichard, chairman; Recorder of Deeds Ernest L. Tustin of Philadelphia, William C. Freeman of Lebanon and former Senator George M. Dimeling of Center county.

READY FOR WAR.

That "the battle is not to the strong alone, but to the vigilant, the active and the brave," is again witnessed by the victory of the Balkan allies over the Turkish Empire, in the great European war that is now raging. Turkey, the supposedly great fighting nation that has kept the large powers of Europe at a respectful distance during the past centuries, we see ingloriously "licked" by a combination of recent petty kingdoms which the powers of Europe suffered to come into existence as "buffers" in the diplomatic game of nations, and which have been regarded as on the nature of opera bouffe kingdoms. Yet this combination of petty Balkan governments—Montenegro, Bulgaria, Servia, aided by the diminutive kingdom of Greene—has within the short space of a month caused the haughty Turkish nation, which has in the past given the strongest powers the fights of their lives to practically sue for peace.

This war is the result of militarism, which in spite of the peace propaganda, has gone steadily on. The small Balkan states, united in a military system, and prepared, while Turkey, content and non-progressive, would not and up against a powerful and effective adversary. It was the story of Japan and Russia. It is a lesson for our own, country in spite of our dislike for military methods. We may smile at the [illegible] because we do not believe for a moment could not defend ourselves against a sudden onslaught. In the Spanish-American war it took our country three months to get 5,000 ill equipped men to the Cuban seaboard, a country about the size of Rhode Island, and with a population no larger than that of Fayette and Westmoreland counties, and whose revenues are less than that of the Pittsburg Coal company, had 30,000 well armed and equipped men across Turkey's frontier three days after the declaration of war. In less than a month Bulgaria and Servia's well trained armies have swept everything before them.

This is something for Americans to think about. We imagine ourselves invincible, yet we might be taken unawares some day from a quarter we least expect, and our pride humbled to dust. While it seems incredulous and improbable at the present time, it is not impossible. No one for a moment thought that Japan could cope with Russia or that the opera bouffe Balkin states would have the temerity to attack Turkey.

IN SIGHT.

With a Republican legislature pledged to a number of progressive and radical reforms, and with the recommendation of the legislative committee appointed last session to revise and codify the election laws, it would seem that woman suffrage in Pennsylvania is in sight. At all events, the time was never more propitious for making a winning fight for a constitutional amendment than at the present coming session.

The recommendation of the committee appointed to codify the election laws, which is in session at Philadelphia this week, that women be accorded the right to vote is a long step in the way of progress in this state. To the objections filed by the reactionaries on the commitee, the reply that legislation for woman suffrage is progressive, and as progress is the order of the day, Pennsylvania to keep step with her most progressive sister western states, must adopt woman suffrage, is most logical. Both the Republican and Democratic parties at their last state conventions recommended woman suffrage, and with an independent and progressive legislature the measure for submitting a suffrage amendment to the constitutions should have no difficulty in passing the next session. Then it will be up to the voters of the state, and if the independent movement continues, it will have no difficulty in passing the popular referendum.

Pennsylvania is in line to be the first eastern state to adopt woman suffrage, and the issue should not be permitted to lapse for lack of popular support

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"There's a mistaken impression prevalent regarding the military strength in this country," said an old veteran, who had seen service in the regular army when the war between the Balkan states and Turkey was the topic of conversation and much surprise was expressed over the poor showing Turkey has made. "Americans generally have an exalted idea as to the military prowess of this country, but let me tell you that if some nation that was fully prepared ever attacked us, say in the condition that we are now in, we would have some troublous times.

"Our great hostile [illegible] to maintain [illegible] to our [illegible] arm[illegible] Men can't fight unless they have something to eat and some sort of cover in the field. [illegible] to us [illegible] how [illegible] the cavalry [illegible] 17,000 to 1, how the [illegible] all sorts of [illegible] we were now able to keep up [illegible] and hospital accessories. It was simply [illegible] truck.

"A notice to the accounts of the [illegible] Bulgarians and their allies have been able to do what they chose in Turkey, because the corrupt government of the Turks has not kept up her commisary department. We read of the Turkish soldiers starving and being without rations or clothing. No wonder they can't fight in that condition. The allies on the contrary have their supplies up to date, and have kept their lines of communication intact with their advance. Just think what it would mean to an army of American soldiers to be attacked by a powerful enemy, with nothing to eat, and no shoes or clothes in weather this time of the year. Would we be likely to put up a fight very long under such conditions?

"There is also a mistaken idea that volunteer soldiers are better than regulars. Individually the volunteer may be a higher type of a man than the regular, but without military training he does not possess the confidence in battle that the regular does. The latter knows something about the war game, how the officers are supposed to know the plan of battle, and how collectively the whole army works together.. He knows that if he is ordered to charge that he will be supported. That if he is ordered to fall back that it may be for strategic purposes, rather than a defeat, and consequently does not become panic stricken. He knows that his officers, who know the war game, are supposed to have the situation well in hand, and that he stands a far better chance to save himself by staying in line than to become scared and run. He also knows that every effort is being made to keep the provision line intact, and all this gives him confidence and courage.

"This is what the volunteer does not know, and until he gets this knowledge by hard experience he is inferior in the field to the regular. An army of untrained volunteers on the firing line with inexperienced officers and not enough to eat will make a poor showing in any country."

KEPT AN EYE ON THE HOUSE.

A Neighborly Act That Resulted In a Comedy of Errors.

A gentleman and his wife occupying a villa in a London suburb asked a neighbor to "keep an eye on the place while they were away on their annual holiday The neighbor consented and on the first night of his caretaking noticed a light in the bedroom of the presumably unoccupied house and saw the light extinguished

Accompanied by a policeman, the neighbor made a forcible entrance through the scullery window and quietly the two men made their way to the bedroom The light of the constable's bullseye disclosed the head of a man in bed, and the policeman promptly drew his truncheon

As promptly the occupant of the bed sprang out, and a desperate struggle began Simultaneously a lady dashed across the room shrieking threw open the window and at considerable peril clambered out A second constable passing at the moment, concluded that the lady was bent on suicide and entering the front garden, held himself in readiness to catch the woman who appeared to be about to dash herself to the ground

The neighbor, however, dragged the lady back into the room and then the truth began to assert itself. The captured invader of the empty house and the escaping lady were the occupant and his wife, who had suddenly changed their holiday arrangements without informing their too vigilant neighbor.—London Globe

He Found the Ghost.

"Talking about ghosts," said the janitor of one of the best known concert halls in the city, "makes me think of the scare I got the other day when I went into the auditorium after some supplies I had left back on the stage As I stepped into the place I heard a scraping and hauling on the stage Some one was puffing and blowing and then whistling a bit For the moment my hair began to stand up I managed to get to one of the switches and turned on the light There was the 'ghost' One of the piano houses had sent over one of their blind tuners to fix up a piano and there he had been working away in the dark, his tools scattered around the stage and parts of the piano strewn about."—New York Sun

THE CRAVING FOR FOOD.

Man Eats Because He's Hungry. Not For Scientific Reasons.

In an article in the Popular Science Monthly Professor W. B. Cannon of the Harvard Medical school writes: "'Why do we eat?' This question, presented to a group of educated people, is likely to bring forth the answer 'We eat to compensate for body waste or to supply the body with fuel for its labors.' Although the body is in fact losing weight continuously and drawing continuously on its store of energy and although the body must periodically be supplied with fresh material and energy in order to keep a more or less even balance between the income and the outgo, this maintenance of weight and strength is not the motive for taking food.

"Primitive man and the lower animals may be regarded as quite unacquainted with notions of the equilibrium of matter and energy in the body, and yet they take food and have an efficient existence in spite of this ignorance. In nature generally important processes, such as the preservation of the individual and the continuance of the race, are not left to be determined by intellectual considerations, but are provided for in automatic devices. Natural desires and impulses arise in consciousness, driving us to action, and only by analysis do we learn their origin or divine their significance. Thus our primary reasons for eating are to be found not in convictions about metabolism, but in the experiences of appetite and hunger."

Order of the Dragon.

There is at least one order of American officers that congress has recognized to the extent of permitting the members to wear the badge with their uniform on proper occasions. This is the Order of the Dragon, established by commissioned officers of the army at Peking in 1900. The members are commissioned officers of the American army and navy who served in China during the Boxer troubles, and there are honorary members from other armies and navies which took part in the campaign of the allies. The society is similar in some ways to the Order of the Cincinnati, founded by French and American officers at the close of the American Revolution, the object of the society being to perpetuate friendships formed during the war.—New York Sun

Stone Microbes.

The decay of building stones, according to more than one authority, is not due to wind action or other surface influence, but to internal disintegration resembling wood rot, and this is ascribed by some to a low organism like the fungi and the molds that cause the decay of vegetable substances.

A cure has been found for the stone disease, or at least a form of treatment that diminishes its ravages. The stones are treated with germicides, the best of which appears to be a mixture of sulphate of copper solution with bichloride of mercury and creosote.

FIREPROOF BUILDINGS.

They Must Be Analyzed as Such Apart From Their Contents.

Many people think that the term "fireproof" is a misnomer, that there is no such thing as a fireproof building and that the use of the term gives one too great a sense of security. This attitude has been brought about largely by the destruction or serious damages of certain buildings that were supposed to have been fireproof and by the fact that many persons think because a building is fireproof it should in some occult fashion prevent the contents from burning.

It is a matter of record that where buildings called fireproof have been destroyed they have been found to have violated some fundamental principle of the really fireproof building.

A fireproof building must be considered apart from its contents, for the structure itself can in no way prevent the burning of combustible material within it except the spread of fire. It is true that as yet we have not attained the absolutely fireproof building. Since even the best fireproofing material we have today is somewhat [illegible] but we can and [illegible] that are more [illegible]

The [illegible] construction [illegible] with [illegible] the [illegible] being made [illegible] damaged. A [illegible] building there [illegible] may be [illegible] as on the [illegible] can [illegible] [illegible] without [illegible] permanent structural [illegible]. Plaster [illegible] material [illegible] to destroy it or [illegible] to its [illegible] will [illegible] intact, [illegible] only the [illegible] places [illegible] the fire [illegible] and the [illegible] finish [illegible] make it again ready [illegible] occupancy.—P. Sibe: in Railway Fares.

In the matter of fares the Transsiberian puts all other railways to shame. For best class the charges are about two-thirds of a penny per mile, second (only a little inferior) less than a half penny for the same distance, while if you care to risk a third class journey you get your four miles for a penny. Even this is the height of extortion when compared with the emigrant rate. This works out at something like a shilling for a hundred miles, and if the emigrant does not possess the shilling the government will lend it him.—London Mail

Taking No Chances.

At a domestic economy lesson, the Northern Christian Advocate reports, little Emily was asked to state briefly the best way to keep milk from souring.

Her answer was certainly brief and to the point. It ran, "You should leave it in the cow."

Fractions.

Lodger—My brother is coming on a visit; have you a couple of spare cots? Landlady—A couple! Is he so big as all that? Lodger—No, but, you see, the fact is he really consists of two half brothers.—Boston Transcript.

AMONG THE THEATRES

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI

Two big features this week at the Palace were "The Past That Returns" and "The Mills of the Gods." Both of these were three reel films, and both were spectacular and sensational beyond the ordinary. "The Past That Returns" was the story of a man who, ruined in business, tries to recoup himself at the gambling table. Unsuccessful in this he implicates his manager in a framed up robbery to explain his loss. The manager is arrested and goes insane. His wife and daughter have to earn their livelihood, and when the former dies she charges the daughter to be revenged upon the man who ruined their home. How the latter accomplished this end is a most thrilling story.. "The Mills of the Gods" is a story of how a wealthy Italian plots to dethrone the prince of the realm. He falls in love with a peasant girl who rejects him, and marries a man of her own station. The villian drives the young couple to poverty, and the girl dies, leaving a little daughter, who grows up and is the object of the villian's attention, who is foiled finally, after some sensational incidents. The Pathe Weekly this week showed how the steamship Empress of Britain rammed the steamer Helvetia in mid-ocean, sinking the latter in a few minutes after all were saved. It so happened that a moving picture machine was on board the Empress of Britain and the sinking of the vessel was caught by the films. The rest of the repertoire during the week was in keeping with the usual high standard of the Palace.

THE COYLE—CHARLEROI

In addition to raising the floor of the theatre to an incline of 30 inches at the back this week, the management of the Coyle Theatre presented some big features besides. Opening Monday with "Dublin Dan," a thrilling detective story in three reels, a succession of strong photoplays was presented. "Dublin Dan" was featured by the eminent and favorite Irish actor, Barney Gilmore. The plot was a melodrama of the deepest dye, but so realistic that it had the audience on the tiptoe of expectation the most of the time. A noted counterfeiter escapes from prison, and seeks refuge with his brother who is wealthy. The latter rejects him, and is murdered by the criminal brother, who impersonates the dead man. A young girl is drawn into the toils, who is rescued by "Dublin Dan," the Irish detective, after some thrilling experiences. Another great melodrama of the week was "King, the Detective, and the Opium Smugglers," in which King Daggot and Jane Fearplay take the leading roles. This tells of a smuggling crew on the seashore, which is being shadowed by a detective, who falls in love with the daughter of one of the law breakers. A baby is also in love with the girl, and he tries to put the detective out of the way. He assaults him and gets him aboard a boat which he staves in, leaving the detective to drown. The latter is rescued by the girl in a motor boat in the nick of time, while the smuggler meets his just deserts. "The Honor of the Family," and "Foiling a Fortune Hunter" were other strong dramas of the week.

THE STAR—CHARLEROI

[illegible] at the Star Theatre this week are the Gaumont Weekly, which [illegible] pictorial [illegible] in all parts of the world—[illegible] many, Switzerland, France, Russia, Japan, and various parts of the United States. Some of the films are "Submarine [illegible]," "[illegible] at Baltimore," "[illegible] Races where [illegible] track record on 3d speed," A thrilling war picture was a Broncho, "[illegible] the Heart of the Seventh," which depicts a most vivid and desperate Indian fight. Other strong photoplays were "The Renegade," "Sis Sarah's Party," "Brothers Under the Skin," "Father's Favorite," "Call of the Blood," "The Retreat from Eden," "The Warning," and others. Manager Tom B. Cowan has secured the service of the Broncho and Kay-Bee films, which are produced by the 101 Ranch Wild West Show outfit. This was formerly the 101 Bison, but in a litigation the 101 Ranch people having the wild west show outfit, had to surrender the name Bison so that they produce the same stirring service with their professional wild west company under the name of Broncho and Kay-Bee. The Star will have one of the latter films next wek.

THE GRAND—PITTSBURG.

In the program for the fifth week of the brilliant winter vaudeville season in the Grand beginning next Monday afternoon, November 18, Pittsburg playgoers will find variety of the highest type and the widest variation. The headline position belongs to Miss Blanche Walsh, the powerful emotion actress whose splendid performances as the star of Tolstoi's "The Resurrection," "The Test," etc., won a place in the forerank of the world's greatest interpreters of the emotional drama. Miss Walsh with a company of players, including William M. Travers, George W. Howard, Theodore Babcock, Peter T. Johnson and Charles Corline, will play Joseph A. Golden's one-drama, "The Countess Nadine." The scene is in the private parlors of the Hotel Royal Kiev, Russia, and the tale has to do with the Russian secret police and military systems. Her role is that of a Russian noblewoman whose husband has ben slain by a nihilist and who seeks to avenge his death by attaching herself to the secret police and ferretting out nihilistic plots.

A contrast to this intense drama will be found in the farcial episode written by Porter Emerson Browne, author of "The Spendthrift" and entitled, "In and Out." This is the vehicle which will present to local playgoers Homer B. Mason, Miss Marguerite Keer and their numerous company. Some idea of the ludicrous situations with which "In and Out" abounds may be conjectured from a description of the scenes showing the inside of the outside and the outside of the inside of the brother's house. Quick transitions of scenes are accomplished by means of a revolving stage. Changes are made so rapidly that they are in themselves a cause for laughter.

Exceptionally interesting is the announcement of the engagement for the first time in vaudeville of the distinguished violincello virtuoso, Ralph Smalley from the Boston Symphony orchestra and the Savage Grand Opera orchestra. He is paying three numbers, one a Chopin Nocturne, the second a Chanson Neopolitan by Sasselle and the third a popular ditty which everybody knows..

A trio of delightful vaudevillians, known as Morgan, Bailey and Morgan make their Pittsburg debut next Monday with a collection of ditties, patter and dances. Marie Fenton, the fascinating songstress, will sing character ditties and make frequent changes of costume. Kenny, Nobody and Platt, originators of Nobody, will introduce a character singing conceit entitled "Nobody Paid You." There will be various other attractions and as customary in all Grand shows, a splendid exhibition of new motion pictures.

[illegible] the [illegible] stage fright [illegible] operation

But do we want stage fright eliminated? Do we want to encourage brazen mouthers and defiant orators? Suppose all men were hardened and fearless after dinner speakers—where would we get the listeners?

If a lot of so called actors should be frightened off the stage and a host of after dinner talkers could be scared stiff wouldn't it be better for art and humanity?

Eliminate stage fright?

Certainly not.

Let's have more of it.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

BEST HE EVER SPENT

Bristol, Pa., Man Says So in This Letter.

Not free from suffering and anxiety over his condition can Fr. A. L. Kennedy of Bristol, Pa., to write this letter. He states: "Grippe and a bad cough caused me much suffering and worry for five long months, but that is all over now. I have taken Vinol and am perfectly well. I took five bottles and it was the best five dollars I ever spent."

In health one cannot realize how depressed a man may become after trying one remedy after another for such a condition as Mr. Kennedy was in, without benefit, or what a relief it is to find help and be restored to health and strength.

It is the combined action of the medical curative elements of cods' livers without the greasy oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron, that makes Vinol so efficient in overcoming chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis at the same time building up the weakened run-down system.

Hedgehogs as Housecleaners.

Maine woodsmen, when in camp during the winter, entertain many strange guests—bluejays chickadees, wood mice and hedgehogs among them says a writer in the New York Sun One woodsman, it appears, on leaving camp on a Saturday afternoon used to neglect, purposely, to close the door of his shack in order that the hedgehogs might enter and clean his floor. Inasmuch as the principal constituents of the camp menu are pork and beans, bacon and other dishes rich in fat, considerable grease is spilled upon the floor in the course of a week, and a hedgehog will risk his neck at any time for a bit of fat Just as soon, therefore, as this particular camp was deserted by its occupants, the spiny gluttons would hasten in and begin to plane off the surface of the floor with their chisel shaped teeth, eating away all the wood that held a trace of grease On his return to camp the owner could sweep up and enjoy the comforts of a clean camp for the week The only serious objection to this method of housecleaning lay in the fact that it was necessary to lay a new camp floor rather frequently

OFFICIAL COUNT GIVES TEMPLE 698 PLURALITY

Washington County Honors Its Home Man With a Big Vote

TABULATION COMPLETE

Little Change in Results as First Announced in District and County

Dr. Henry W. Temple of Washington was winner over Congressman Charles Matthews of New Castle in the Twenty-Fourth district Congressional fight by 698 votes, according to the official tabulation of votes in the three counties comprising the district. The Washington county board finished their official count Thursday when the final result was made known.

Dr. Temple had a plurality of 1,237 votes in his own county over Matthews and a plurality of 8,660 over Dr. Lacock, the Democratic nominee. Matthews was third in this county, Lacock running second with 477 more votes than his Republican opponent.

Dr. Temple was first in Washington county, with 1,837 plurality, first in Beaver county with 152 plurality, and second in Lawrence county, Matthews winning there by a plurality of 791 votes.

In the district the Progressives take first place, the Republicans second the Democrats third, the Socialists fourth, and the Prohibitionists dropping to fifth.

The total vote cast in the district for congress was 37,232 and the Republican party, which formerly gave over 10,000 plurality in this district only polled about one-fourth of the total vote. Another feature of the returns is the small vote polled by the Prohibitionists, especially in Washington county. Peeples' the Prohibition candidate, received 321 votes in this county, 390 in Beaver and 652 in his own county. Washington with twice the population of Lawrence had only one-half as many Prohibition votes.

Dr. Temple drew very strongly undoubtedly from the Prohibition vote in this county. The following table gives the vote for each of the five candidates for congress, officially in each of the three counties of the 34th district:

	Was.	Law.	Bea.	Total.
Matthews (R)	3027	3303	4467	—10797
Temple (W)	2236	3455	5804	—11495
Lacock (D)	1316	2235	4944	— 8495
Frehy (S)	1505	1594	1983	— 5082
Peeples (P)	652	390	321	— 1363

Temple's plurality over Matthews in district—698.

Choral Work to be Dropped

No Place Suitable in Entire Town Where Concert Could be Given

Because of a lack of a place in which to hold a recital it is likely that the Choral Society plans will be dropped for the season. None of the churches would be suitable, it is declared and one of them would be the only available place. Last year School Hall might have been used, but the auditorium has been cut into two rooms which are now being used for school purposes.

With the construction of the new school building on the corner of Crest avenue and Sixth street there will be an auditorium for recitals and performances of all natures.

REFUSES TO EAT

Sanity Commission Investigates Mentality of Donora Woman

DAUGHTER DROWNED

A commisison of Washington men this morning made an examination into the sanity of Mrs. Catherine Sampo, the Donora woman, who was lodged in jail Thursday charged with responsibility for the drowning of her 4-months-old daughter Ellen, Monday night.

The woman since being taken to the jail has absolutely refused to either eat or talk. She sits looking straight ahead of her and does not even reply when spoken to. Every effort to persuade her to take nourishment is a failure and a result of her abstinence from food she is in a greatly weakened condition. It is probable she will be committed to some institution for the insane.

RAILROAD ROUTE OVER OLD SURVEY

Mingo Creek to be Followed Short Distance by Cut-Off of Pittsburg & Lake Erie Line-- The Story Comes Straight

The Mingo railroad to be built up Mingo creek below Monongahela, of which mention was made a few days ago is to follow what is known as the old Hempfield route, which was surveyed years ago. The purpose of the line, as was previously stated will be to secure a needed cut-off doing away with delays in Pittsburg for trains east and west on the Pittsburg and [illegible].

The original line of the Hempfield between Wheeling and Greensburg was down Mingo creek and across the Monongahela at the mouth of Mingo creek. A large amount of work was done on thi sroute. The people of Washington county voted for a bond issue of $200,000, and Washington borough $50,000 to help in the construction.

The proposed Lake Erie cut-off is to folloy the old Hempfield route up Mingo creek, cross the B. & O, near Gilkeson or Gamble, thence down little Chartiers to VanEman, thence by McPherson's run to Cecil to McDonald, and north to a connection with the Montour run branch of the Lake Erie. About 25 miles of the line will be in Washington county.

Already the rights of way have been secured, practically all of them by outright purchase, so that when the company is ready to go ahead with the work, there will be no delay or difficulties with property owners. The land for the terminals of the proposed river bridge are already purchased, which goes to show that the promoters mean business, and that active operations will not long be delayed.

JOHN SLOAN DIES OF HEART TROUBLE

Well Known California Man Passes Away Very Suddenly This Morning

BROTHER OF LOCAL MAN

John Sloan aged 46, a brother of Tom P. Sloan of North Charleroi, died at his home in the township adjoining California borough this morning at 9 o'clock from heart trouble. His death came very suddenly, Mr. Sloan not having been noticeably ill more than a few hours.

Born in Brownsville Mr. Sloan spent the greater part of his life as a miner. Some years ago he moved to California and accepted the position of road supervisor in the township where he lived. He held this position at the time of his death. His widow, who previous to her marriage was Martha Hiner, and two daughters, Mrs. L. S. Howard of Coal Centre and Mrs. Fred Combs of Califrnia survive. Another brother besides Tom P. Sloan and two or three sisters survive.

MRS. EHRENFIELD DIES AT NORMAL

After an illness of about three months, Mrs. Helen Margaret Hatch Ehrenfeld, aged 75 years, wife of Dr. Charles Ehrenfeld, a member of the faculty of the California Normal school and widely known over Pennsylvania and Ohio in educational and church circles, died at the Ehrenfeld apartments at the normal at noon Thursday. Mrs. Shrenfeld was taken ill in August while at Mountain Lake Park, Maryland. She was brought home at that time but her condition did not improve. The direct cause of death was pneumonia.

Mrs. Ehrenfeld was the daughter of Warner and Annie Hatch and was born at Springfield, Ohio, October 13, 1837. She was united in marriage to the Rev. Mr. Ehrenfeld October 8, 1860. Residing at various places in Pennsylvania and Ohio where her husband was interested in school and church work, Mrs. Ehrenfeld was widely known and highly respected.

Besides the husband t hree sons, Charles H. Ehrenfeld of York, Pa.; Augusta C. Ehrenfeld of Springfield, O., and Frederick Ehrenfeld of Philadelphia survive. Two daughters died while Dr. Ehrenfeld was principal of the California Normal school 1871-76.

The body was taken on the 6:18 train leaving California this morning to Springfield, the former home. The cortege will be joined in Pittsburg by the two sons. Funeral services will be held at Springfield Saturday afternoon at the home of the son Augusta and the interment will be at that place.

NO PLACE FOR A REPUBLICAN

Eighty Four Has Big Democratic Population in Good Standing

NAME TO BE CHANGED

The most dangerous place in Washington county for a Republican is Eighty-Four. The safest place for a Democrat is the same village. With a population of 700 persons it is stated the village never had a Republican voter. Once a Republican who didn't know any better went there to start in business. Being a stand patter who wouldn't change his political religion for sake of residence he moved out. Eighty-Four took its present name when Grover Cleveland was elected President in 1884. Previous to that it was known as Fifty-Six, in honor of the election of President James Buchanan. Now, after 20 years, the residents propose to petition the postmaster general to change the name of the postoffice to Nineteen-Twelve in honor of Woodrow Wilson.

Legislative Committee Considers New Legislation

TO CODIFY THE LAWS

Females of Pennsylvania May be Voting Within the Next Few Years

Woman suffrage, which both the Democratic and Republican parties at their last state conventions recommended should be voted upon by the people, was further endorsed in Philadelphia yesterday, when the legislative committee appointed to codify and revise the election laws of this state voted to include it among the recommendations to be made to the next legislature. David H. Lane, the veteran Republican organization leader of Philadelphia and former Attorney General W. U. Hensel of Lancaster, were the only members of the committee to oppose the recommendation. They declared that a woman's place was in the home and any introduction of woman suffrage into Pennsylvania would only complicate matters.

Those endorsing the recommendation took the stand that such legislation is progressive and this commonwealth should immediately follow the lead of those western states which had given votes to women. Those voting in favor of the recommendation were Frank P. Prichard, chairman; Recorder of Deeds Ernest L. Tustin of Philadelphia, William C. Freeman of Lebanon and former Senator George M. Dimeling of Center county.

THE BALKAN WAR

That "the battle is not to the strong alone, but to the valiant, the active and the brave," is again illustrated by the victory of the Balkan allies over the Turkish Empire in the great European war that is now raging. Turkey the supposedly great fighting nation that has kept the large powers of Europe at a respectful distance during the past centuries, we see ingloriously "licked" by a combination of recent petty dominions that the powers of Europe suffered to come into existence as "buffers" in the diplomatic game of nations, and which have been regarded as on the nature of opera bouffe kingdoms. Yet this combination of petty Balkan governments—Servia, Bulgaria, Greece aided by the diminutive kingdom of Greene—has within the short space of a month driven the mighty Turkish nation, which has in the past given the strongest powers the fight of their lives to preserve its

This war is the result of [illegible] agenda, has given the [illegible] by preparedness [illegible] and non-aggression [illegible] up against [illegible] story of [illegible] and Russia [illegible] our own [illegible] dislike [illegible] supposedly [illegible] because we are not ready for war and could not defend ourselves against a sudden onslaught. In the Spanish-American war it took our country three months to get 15,000 ill equipped men ready to invade Cuba. Montenegro, a country about the size of Rhode Island, and with a population no larger than that of Fayette and Westmoreland counties, and whose revenues are less than that of the Pittsburg Coal company, had 30,000 well armed and equipped men across Turkey's frontier three days after the declaration of war. In less than a month Bulgaria and Servia's well [illegible] armies have swept everything before them.

This is something for Americans to think about. We imagine ourselves invincible, yet we might be taken unawares some day from a quarter we least expect, and our pride humbled to dust. While it seems incredulous and impossible at the present time, it is not impossible. No one for a moment thought that Japan could cope with Russia or that the opera bouffe Balkan states would have the temerity to attack Turkey.

IN SIGHT.

With a Republican legislature pledged to a number of progressive and radical reforms and with the recommendation of the legislative committee appointed last session to revise and codify the election laws, it would seem that woman suffrage in Pennsylvania is in sight. At all events, the time was never more propitious for making a winning fight for a constitutional amendment than at the present coming session.

The recommendations of the committee appointed to revise the election laws which is in session at Philadelphia this week it is understood, include the right to vote as a long step in the way of progress in this state. To the objections made by the reactionaries on the committee that legislation for woman suffrage is progressive and as progress is the order of the day, Pennsylvania to keep step with her more progressive sister western states, must adopt woman suffrage, is most illogical. Both the Republican and Democratic parties at their last state conventions [illegible] woman suffrage and with a [illegible] and progressive legislature the measure for submitting suffrage amendment to the constitution should have [illegible] session. There is [illegible] no [illegible] counties, [illegible] of Philadelphia, in passing the proposal referendum.

THE CRAVING FOR FOOD.

In an article in the Popular Science Monthly Professor W. B. Cannon of the Harvard Medical school writes: "'Why do we eat?' This question, presented to a group of educated people, is likely to bring forth the answer 'We eat to compensate for body waste or to supply the body with fuel for its labors.' Although the body is in fact losing weight continuously and drawing continuously on its store of energy and although the body must periodically be supplied with fresh material and energy in order to keep a more or less even balance between the income and the outgo, this maintenance of weight and strength is not the motive for taking food.

"Primitive man and the lower animals may be regarded as quite unacquainted with notions of the equilibrium of matter and energy in the body, and yet they take food and have an efficient existence in spite of this ignorance. In nature generally important processes, such as the preservation of the individual and the continuance of the race, are not left to be determined by intellectual considerations, but are provided for in automatic devices. Natural desires and impulses arise in consciousness, driving us to action, and only by analysis do we learn their origin or divine their significance. Thus our primary reasons for eating are to be found not in convictions about metabolism, but in the experiences of appetite and hunger."

Order of the Dragon.

There is at least one order of American officers that congress has recognized to the extent of permitting the members to wear the badge with their uniform on proper occasions. This is the Order of the Dragon, established by commissioned officers of the army at Peking in 1900. The members are commissioned officers of the American army and navy who served in China during the Boxer troubles, and there are honorary members from other armies and navies which took part in the campaign of the allies. The society is similar in some ways to the Order of the Cincinnati, founded by French and American officers at the close of the American Revolution, the object of the society being to perpetuate friendships formed during the war.—New York Sun

Stone Microbes.

The decay of building stones, according to more than one authority, is not due to wind action or other surface in-resembling wood rot, and this is ascribed by some to a low organism like the fungi and the molds that cause the decay of vegetable substances.

A cure has been found for the stone disease, or at least a form of treatment that diminishes its ravages. The stones are treated with germicides, the best of which appears to be a mixture of sulphate of copper solution with bichloride of mercury and creosote.

FIREPROOF BUILDINGS.

They Must Be Analyzed as Such Apart From Their Contents.

Many people think that the term "fireproof" is a misnomer, that there is no such thing as a fireproof building and that the use of the term gives one too great a sense of security. This attitude has been brought about largely by the destruction or serious damages of certain buildings that were supposed to have been fireproof and by the fact that many persons think because a building is fireproof it should in some occult fashion prevent the contents from burning.

It is a matter of record that where buildings called fireproof have been destroyed they have been found to have violated some fundamental principle of the really fireproof building.

A fireproof building must be considered apart from its contents, for the structure itself can in no way prevent the burning of combustible material within it except the spread of fire. It is true that as yet we have not attained the absolutely fireproof building, since even the best fireproofing material we have today is some what combustible by fire, but we can and do erect structures that are practically fireproof.

The [illegible] construction means a capability of withstanding fire without being materially damaged. A fireproof building, therefore, may be defined as one that is capable of bearing its dead load and without material impairment structurally. That is, all burnable material may be destroyed, but the structure itself will remain intact, requiring only the replacement of some of the fireproofing and the interior finish to make it again ready for occupancy.—P. P. Walther in Engineering Magazine

Siberian Railway Fares.

In the matter of fares the Transsiberian puts all other railways to shame. For first class the charges are about two-thirds of a penny per mile, second (only a little inferior) less than a half-penny for the same distance, while if you care to risk a third class journey you get your four miles for a penny. Even this is the height of extortion when compared with the emigrant rate. This works out at something like a shilling for a hundred miles, and if the emigrant does not possess the shilling the government will lend it him.—London Mail.

Taking No Chances.

At a domestic economy lesson, the Northern Christian Advocate reports, little Emily was asked to state briefly the best way to keep milk from sour ing.

Her answer was certainly brief and to the point. It ran, "You should leave it in the cow."

AMONG THE THEATRES

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI

Two big features this week at the Palace were "The Past That Returns" and "The Mills of the Gods." Both of these were three reel films, and both were spectacular and sensational beyond the ordinary. "The Past That Returns" was the story of a man who, ruined in business, tries to recoup himself at the gambling table. Unsuccessful in this he implicates his manager in a framed up robbery to explain his loss. The manager is arrested and goes insane. His wife and daughter have to earn their livelihood, and when the former dies she charges the daughter to be revenged upon the man who ruined their home. How the latter accomplished this end is a most thrilling story.. "The Mills of the Gods" is a story of how a wealthy Italian plots to dethrone the prince of the realm. He falls in love with a peasant girl who rejects him, and marries a man of her own station. The villian drives the young couple to poverty, and the [illegible] a little daughter, who grows up and is the object of the villian's attention, who is foiled finally, after some sensational incidents. The Pathe Weekly this week showed how the steamship Empress of Britain rammed the steamer Helvetia in mid-ocean, sinking the latter in a few minutes at [illegible] all were saved. It so happened that a moving picture machine was on board the Empress of Britain and the sinking of the vessel was caught by the films. The rest of the repertoire during the week was in keeping with the usual high standard of the Palace.

THE COYLE—CHARLEROI

In addition to raising the floor of the theatre to an incline of 30 inches at the back this week, the management of the Coyle Theatre presented some big features besides. Opening Monday with "Dublin Dan," a thrilling detective story in three reels, a succession of strong photoplays was presented. "Dublin Dan" was featured by the eminent and favorite Irish actor, Barney Gilmore. The plot was a melodrama of the deepest dye, but so realistic that it had the audience on the tiptoe of expectation the most of the time. A noted counterfeiter escapes from prison, and seeks refuge with his brother who is wealthy. The latter rejects him, and is murdered by the criminal brother, who impersonates the dead man. A young girl is drawn into the toils, who is rescued by "Dublin Dan," the Irish detective, after some thrilling experiences. Another great melodrama of the week was "King, the Detective, and the Opium Smugglers," in which King Baggot and Jane Fearnley take the leading roles. This tells of a smuggling crew on the seashore which is being shadowed by a detective, who falls in love with the daughter of one of the law breakers. A belly is also in love with the girl, and he tries to put the detective out of the way. He assaults him and gets him aboard a boat which he scuttles for leaving the detective to drown. The latter is rescued by the girl in a motor boat in the nick of time, while the smuggler meets his just deserts. "The Honor of the Family," and "Foiling a Fortune Hunter" were other strong dramas of the week.

THE STAR—CHARLEROI

A feature at the Star Theatre this week was the Gaumont Weekly, which showed pictorial events from all parts of the world—Germany, Switzerland, France, Russia, Japan, and various parts of the United States. Some of the titles were "Soldiering in the Alps," "Military Revi w at Dresden," "A School-boys' Strike at Baltimore," "Aviator in Aerial Masquerade," and many others, including the recent Pittsburg Auto Races where Burman breaks the track record in 52 seconds. A thrilling war picture was a Broncho, "For the Honor of the Seventh," which depicts a most vivid and desperate Indian fight. Other strong photoplays wer "The Renegade," "Si's Surprise Party," "Brothers Under the Skin," "Father's Favorite," "Call of the Blood," "The Retreat from Eden," "The Warning," and others. Manager Tom B. Cowan has secured the service of the Broncho and Kay-Bee films, which are produced by the 101 Ranch Wild West Show outfit. This was formerly the 101 Bison, but in a litigation the 101 Ranch people having the wild west show outfit, had to surrender the name Bison so that they produce the same stirring ser- [illegible] company under the name of Brancho and Kay-Bee. The Star will have one of the latter films next wek.

THE GRAND—PITTSBURG.

In the program for the fifth week of the brilliant winter vaudeville season in the Grand beginning next Monday afternoon, November 18, Pittsburg playgoers will find variety of the highest type and the widest variation. The headline position [illegible] to Miss Blanche Walsh, the powerful emotion actress whose splendid performances as the star of [illegible] The Resurrection, The Test, etc., won a place in the forerank of the world's greatest interpreters of the emotional drama. Miss Walsh with a company of players, including William M. Travers, George W. Howard, Theodore Babcock, Peter T. Johnson and Charles Corline, will play Joseph A. Golden's one-drama, "The Countess Nadine." The scene is in the private parlors of the Hotel Royal Kiev, Russia, and the tale has to do with the Russian secret police and military systems. Her role is that of a Russian noblewoman whose husband has ben slain by a nihilist and who seeks to avenge his death by attaching herself to the secret police and ferretting out nihilistic plots.

A contrast to this intense drama will be found in the farcial episode written by Porter Emerson Browne, author of "The Spendthrift" and entitled, "In and Out." This is the vehicle which will present to local playgoers Homer B. Mason, Miss Marguerite Keer and their numerous company. Some idea of the ludicrous situations with which "In and Out" abounds may be conjectured from a description of the scenes showing the inside of the outside and the outside of the inside of the brother's house. Quick transitions of scenes are accomplished by means of a revolving stage. Changes are made so rapidly that they are in themselves a cause for laughter.

Exceptionally interesting is the announcement of the engagement for the first time in vaudeville of the distinguished violincello virtuoso, Ralph Smalley from the Boston Symphony orchestra and the Savage Grand Opera orchestra. He is paying three numbers, one a Chopin Nocturne, the second a Chanson Neopolitan by Sasselle and the third a popular ditty which everybody knows..

A trio of delightful vaudevillians, known as Morgan, Bailey and Morgan make their Pittsburg debut next Monday with a collection of ditties, patter and dances. Marie Fenton, the fascinating songstress, will sing character ditties and make frequent changes of costume. Kenny, Nobody and Platt, originators of Nobody, will introduce a character singing conceit entitled "Nobody Paid You." There will be various other attractions and as customary in all Grand shows, a splendid exhibition of new motion pictures.

[illegible] us what the operation is [illegible] simple. So is the operation of the guillotine. And nothing could be more effective.

But do we want stage fright eliminated? Do we want to encourage brazen mouthers and defiant orators? Suppose all men were hardened and fearless after dinner speakers—where would we get the listeners?

If a lot of so called actors should be frightened on the stage and a host of after dinner talkers could be scared stiff, wouldn't it be better for art and humanity?

Eliminate stage fright?

Certainly not.

Let's have more of it.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

BEST HE EVER SPENT

Bristol, Pa., Man Says So in This Letter.

Months of suffering and anxiety over his condition caused Fr. A. L. Kennedy of Bristol, Pa., to write this letter. He says: "Grippe and a bad cough caused me much suffering and worry for five long months, but that is all over now for I have taken Vinol and am perfectly well. I took five bottles and it was the best five dollars I ever spent."

In health one cannot realize how depressed a person may become after trying one remedy after another for such a condition as Mr. Kennedy was in, without benefit, or what a relief it is to find help and be restored to health and strength.

It is the combined action of the medical curative element of cods' livers without the greasy oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of iron, that makes Vinol so efficient in overcoming chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis at the same time building up the weakened run-down system.

Profaning Sacred Music.

There is not a church organist living who has not discovered the art of turning a ribald tune into a devotional voluntary by a slight change of time. Sullivan's "Lost Chord" has been the means of excellent account in the opening chorus of "Patience." For the first line of "Twenty Lovesick Maidens We" is simply another composer's setting of "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes Unto the Lord!"—London Chronicle

Hedgehogs as House-cleaners.

Maine woodsmen, when in camp during the winter, entertain many strange guests—bluejays, chickadees, wood mice and hedgehogs among them, says a writer in the New York Sun. One woodsman, it appears, on leaving camp on a Saturday afternoon used to neglect, purposely, to close the door of his shack in order that the hedgehogs might enter and clean his floor. Inasmuch as the principal constituents of the camp menu are pork and beans, bacon and other dishes rich in fat, considerable grease is spilled upon the floor in the course of a week, and a hedgehog will risk his neck at any time for a bit of fat Just as soon therefore, as this particular camp was deserted by its occupants, the spiny gluttons would hasten in and begin to plane off the surface of the floor with their chisel shaped teeth, eating away all the wood that held a trace of grease On his return to camp the owner could sweep up and enjoy the comforts of a clean house for another week The only serious objection to this method of housecleaning lay in the fact that it was necessary to lay a new camp floor rather frequently
